

Newalta construction progressing well

Newalta Corporation invited their neighbors over for coffee last Friday afternoon, and proudly displayed the progress being made at their new $5 million Soilfield waste treatment plant site southeast of Elk Point.

As residents of the area surrounding the plant, located east of Highway 41 on Secondary 640, munched their snacks, Newalta representatives outlined the progress so far. The first phase, consisting of geotechnological and hydrological work to determine soil types and the location of the water table, and to put a ground water monitoring system in place, has now been completed. The cement work for the treatment and storage structures is now going ahead full throttle.

The main treatment building, where the visitors saw gravel being placed prior to the pouring of cement for the receiving area, has a poly liner under the cement pad, and under that are weeping tile which lead to a collection sump. The building, where the cleaning process will continue non-stop, can hold enough incoming product to keep the plant going for three days. North of this, the solids repository for cleaned sand has a compacted 500 mm clay base with a geotextile liner. Tanks behind the treatment building will be used to store usable oil recovered from the sand. Water used in the cleaning process will go to a deep disposal well and any silt produced will be hauled to Newalta's Hughenden facility.

Brian Huseby, who will manage the plant, has the responsibility of ensuring that the safety and environmental policies are carried out. A formal facility inspection will be made weekly, a walk as daily walkarounds of the plant. An environmental audit of the components of the environmental management system ensures that everything is operating correctly and that any problems are followed up. The plant will be over and above Energy and Utility Board requirements in many areas.

Regional Manager Robbin Dawe answered questions regarding the eventual destination of the clean sand produced by the plant. "We're looking in the future at siting a landfill in northeast Alberta specifically for this material, where it can be stored and later retrieved." The sand has potential uses in the cement industry, road construction and on golf courses.

The plant is designed to handle 25,000 cubic meters of sand and 15,000 cubic metres of slop oil per year, according to Regional Sales Manager Ken Quaife. Construction will be complete in January, 1998, with testing in February and full startup at the end of March or early in April.

OVERSEEING CONSTRUCTION -- Brian Huseby, who will manage the Newalta plant, surveys the construction of the main treatment building, located southeast of Elk Point on Secondary Highway 640. The plant will process oilfield waste and recover oil from produced sand.

Input needed on policing priorities

By Sgt. Peter Sherstan
Elk Point RCMP

The RCMP Elk Point Detachment is turning to its clients, the public, for input into determining policing priorities for the upcoming year. With the economic upturn that has occurred in certain sectors within the province, police resources have been stretched in some areas. The difficult challenges that have been faced by the health care and education sectors, such as levels of service and resource allocation, are now being experienced by the RCMP at the national, provincial and local level.

Elk Point is one of the communities affected by the recent growth in the petroleum industry, and a corresponding increase in the demands for police service has been noted. For example, in the first 42 weeks of 1996, the Elk Point RCMP generated 726 files as a result of complaints, requests for assistance, accidents, etc. This year, in the same period, 1537 files were generated. This represents a 112% increase.

Elk Point Detachment provides service to four distinct communities: the Frog Lake First Nation, the town of Elk Point, the Fishing Lake Metis Settlement and a rural area comprised mainly of the County of St. Paul. The table on Page 2 indicates the number of total incidents that have occurred as well as a breakdown by community. It should be noted that statistics are gathered by the physical location where the incident occurred and not by the residence of the suspect.

The five constables and one sergeant's position at Elk Point are paid for by the provincial government. An increase in human resources is highly unlikely in these times of fiscal restraint. The members of Elk Point Detachment are therefore seeking to assure that their efforts are in line with the communities' interests and priorities for policing services.

Anyone wishing to have input into the establishment of policing priorities should seek out the most convenient avenue to make their concerns known. One option is to contact members of the Community Advisory Policing Committee, a group of citizens from various sectors of the community who routinely meet with the police to express concerns and interests that have been brought to their attention. A second option is to contact your elected or administrative representatives at the local government level. A Community Partners meeting in early November will bring together officials from all four communities with the goal of clarifying the expectations of the local governments for policing services. Finally, in the upcoming week, copies of the survey on Page 2 will be randomly sent throughout the area. You may also choose to complete this copy and drop it off at the detachment at your earliest convenience.

Additionally, members of the public are also encouraged to speak directly with members of the Elk Point Detachment to make their concerns known.

Where are those nominations?

With four days to go before the October 31 deadline, Elk Point Chamber of Commerce is anxiously awaiting responses to their request for nominations for Small Business of the Year. The award is to be presented at the Chamber's November 5 meeting.

Please get your nominations in NOW for the Elk Point business you feel has gone that extra mile to provide excellent service to the community. These may be mailed to Box 639, Elk Point, TOA 1A0, faxed to 724-4211 or hand delivered to the Elk Point Review, 4809 - 50 Avenue, before 12:00 noon, Friday, October 31. Nominations should include the reasons why you feel that business is deserving of an award, and must include the signature and phone number of the person making the nomination, in case further details are required.

Suicide — leading the high accident rate in Alberta

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

Did you know under the category of "Accidents and Incidents," that suicides are the highest cause of death in Alberta? In other words, there are more suicide deaths than there are car accident deaths in Alberta.

Suicide occurs when there is an abrupt or drastic change in a person's personality and disposition. This happens when the person is having some kind of difficulty.

Some signs for concern are: abrupt personality changes; abrupt ending of a romance; abuse or excessive use of alcohol or other drugs; carelessness — accident prone; depression — discouragement; difficulty concentrating, exaggerated or extended boredom, giving away possessions, inability to communicate, inability to tolerate frustration, losing loved one — family disruption, neglecting normal responsibilities, neglecting personal appearance, previous suicide attempt, running away from home, sexual promiscuity, sleeping disturbances, talking of attempting suicide, truancy, withdrawal and rebelliousness.

In other words, suicide happens when pain exceeds the resources for coping with pain.

There is a story of a seventeen-year-old boy named Mike Emme, found in the book "A Third Serving of Chicken Soup for the Soul," which talks about how this young man ended his life. He was a gifted student, happy, helpful young man with a future as bright and cheerful as his car. Friends called him "Mustang Mike."

Mike's summer love had been terminated abruptly by his girlfriend's engagement to someone else on August 23. On September 8, in a moved that stunned everyone who knew him, Mike slipped into the front seat of his bright yellow Mustang, closed the door and shot himself. In a note he left, it said: "I wish I could have learned how to hate. Don't blame yourselves. Mom and Dad, I love you. Remember, I'll always be with you." It was signed, "Love, Mike 11:45."

At 11:52 his parents, Dar and Dale Emme, and his brother, Victor, pulled into their driveway behind Mike's bright yellow Mustang — seven minutes too late.

By noon the next day, teenagers started arriving at the Emme home wearing t-shirts bearing the words "IN MEMORY OF MIKE EMME" imprinted above a bright yellow Mustang. ... A stream of stories that went on for days began emerging. Most were news to Mike's family. They were all about all the kind things he had done. Teenagers gathered at the Emme home to comfort the family and each other. They discussed the tragedy of teen suicide and the fact that the highest number of teen suicides are gifted (high I.Q.) children. They learned that suicide is the sixth most common cause of death in children ages 5 to 14 and the third most common in those ages 15 to 24. They discovered that each year, suicide takes the life of over 7000 children between the ages of 10 and 19. In Alberta, by itemizing all ages together, suicide is the highest accidental/incident death.

As these teens explored what they themselves might be able to do to prevent this type of tragedy, someone looked up, saw a bright yellow Mustang on one of the t-shirts, and the Yellow Ribbon Project was born.

To explain this project, we are fortunate in Elk Point, as the Emmes (the parents of Mike Emme) will be speaking to the F. G. Miller Jr./Sr. High School students on Thursday, October 30 at 10:55 in the school gym. Parents and interested adults are all invited to attend this session with the Emmes.

POTTER'S CLAY

Gospel quartet to perform Saturday at Elementary

Potter's Clay, a southern gospel quartet which uses four part harmony to tell the "wondrous story" of Jesus, will perform in the Elk Point Elementary School gym on Saturday, November 1 at 7:30 p.m. There is no admission charge, a free will offering will be taken.

Birnie Bornn sings the lead part and plays the bass guitar. Ed Parkins sings tenor, Bert Adrian sings baritone, Art Leedholm sings bass, and Ray Newsham plays the keyboard. Together, they make up the Potter's Clay.

Their backgrounds are as diversified as their names.

They come from four different communities as well as from three different denomination.

They have completed three recordings. The first album is self titled: "Potter's Clay." The second is "Glory Road," the third, "Gaining Ground." CDs are also available.

Most of their singing is done in central Alberta, although they have sung as far north as Peace River, toured east into Saskatchewan and west to Vancouver. Potter's Clay is excited about the way God is using their ministry. They look forward to meeting many more friends in the coming year.

GREAT PUMPKINS BY THE BENCHFUL -- are on display at Elk Point Elementary School, in readiness for Halloween this Friday, along with scarecrows and other seasonal artwork.

It's the Great Pumpkin again, Charlie Brown!

By Sherry Pelech
Elk Point Review Contributor

It's that time of year again — harvest, bounties of the garden, a cornucopia of riches — you know, the time of year when you wonder why you planted all those little pumpkin seeds. Unless of course you grew pumpkins of gigantic proportions for the Great Pumpkin Weigh-Off in Smoky Lake recently, or you planted pumpkins so that, like Linus of 'Peanuts' fame, you have someplace to sit while you wait for the Great Pumpkin to rise up out of the most sincere pumpkin patch, you may need some inspiration on what to do with the meaty little vegetables if you aspire to something beyond Jack-o-lanterns and mere pumpkin pie.

This is a spectacular and very tasty soup that will impress the pickiest people — even wicked stepmothers.

CINDERELLA SOUP

1 3 to 4 lb. pumpkin
1/4 lb. bacon
1 1/2 cups croutons
1 cup Gruyere cheese, grated
salt and pepper
1 cup light cream milk

Heat oven to 350o F. Cut top off pumpkin. Remove seeds and fibers from pumpkin. Dice bacon and fry until lightly crisp. Layer croutons, cheese and bacon in pumpkin shell. Season to taste. Add cream and enough milk to come nearly to the top of shell. Replace pumpkin lid tightly. Place in roaster and bake two hours. When serving, scoop up pumpkin flesh and mix with liquid.

Don't be put off by the use of lard in this muffin recipe (but if the idea really grosses you out, substitute margarine or butter or shortening or something.)

DOUBLE GINGER-PUMPKIN MUFFINS

2 cups flour
3 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp ground ginger
1/4 tsp. ground mace
1/2 cup lard
1 cup brown sugar, packed
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup pumpkin puree
1/2 cup buttermilk
1/3 cup chopped walnuts
1/4 cup chopped crystallized ginger

Blend flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, ginger and mace. Cream lard (or whatever) with the sugars, beating until fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Mix in pumpkin. Alternately add dry ingredients and buttermilk to the creamed mixture, beating only until smooth after each addition. Mix in nuts and crystallized ginger with the last few strokes. Spoon batter equally into greased or lined muffin cups. Bake at 375o F. for 20 minutes. Makes two dozen muffins.

Here is a tasty dish from Quebec.

NAVARIN OF LAMB IN CIDER

4 lb. lamb shoulder
1 tsp. nutmeg
1 tsp. thyme
2 cups chopped onions
2 cups diced potatoes

2 cups cubed pumpkin
4 tbsp. bacon fat
3 tbsp. flour
3 cups dry cider
2 cloves garlic, minced
Dredge meat with flour and brown in fat for 2 or 3 minutes. Add seasonings, garlic, onions, potatoes and pumpkin. Add cider and simmer for 1 hour and 15 minutes. Check seasonings.

This is an old pioneer recipe used back in the days when pickling was one of the main methods used to preserve foods.

PUMPKIN PICKLE

5 lb. pumpkin
1 1/4 cups vinegar
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 tsp. ginger
2 1/2 cups sugar
2 lemons
2 tsp. cinnamon
Peel and cut pumpkin into cubes. Squeeze juice from lemons. Cut rind into fine slivers. Mix ingredients and let stand overnight. Drain juice and heat to boiling. Add pumpkin and cook until it begins to appear transparent. Put into sealers, cover with juice and seal.

This is an excellent side dish.

HONEYED PUMPKIN

4 lb. pumpkin
2 tbsp. butter
2 tbsp. honey
1/2 tsp. ground allspice
Seed, peel and cube pumpkin. Cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and mash. Heat pumpkin in pan, shaking occasionally to evaporate excess liquid. Stir in butter, honey and allspice. Mix well.

Heinsburg in the Middle Ages

The days when knighthood was in full flower came to Heinsburg on October 18, when the Society for Creative Anachronism enchanted the students of Heinsburg Community School with their portrayal of life in the Middle Ages.

The Society, based in the Cold Lake area, re-creates medieval times as accurately as possible, as shown by their costumes, equipment and display material. Colorful banners portrayed the allegiance of each member.

Lady Igraine of Hybernia (Pearl-Ann Gooding) is a herbologist, weaver and basket-maker from the year 1150, when Ireland was under English rule. Lord Marcus Wynniatt (Mark Traub), late of the Baroness' guard, is captain of a 1600s pirate ship. Morgan Ravenscroft (in real life, Hugh Rudderheim) is a 1190s apprentice in the craft of stained glass.

The fourth member of the crew, Lord Roland Murdock (David Rothbauer) is a mid-16th century bard and the bos'un of a pirate ship. Bards carried the news from place to place in those days, with stories both fact and fiction. Throughout history, the news has included terrible events such as wars, famines and plagues, and Lord Roland noted that "jokes help us deal with bad news on a bearable level." A song and game from the Middle Ages, which is still played today is one example. "Ring Around the Rosie" had its start in the 11th century, mocking the deaths from the bubonic plague.

Wars were different in those days, Lord Roland said, with no firearms until the 16th century. Before that, battle gear consisted of swords, shields and armor. The broadswords of the time, demonstrated by Lord Marcus and Morgan, were depicted in 1 1/4 inch rattan, wrapped with tape, and Lord Roland said the idea was "not to hurt, but to kill" their opponents by hitting them in the head, body or both. By the 1400s, words had become razor-sharp, pointed rapiers, capable of piercing a knight through the openings in his armor.

Lord Marcus, a little out of breath from the battle, said there was "only one serious fallacy" in the depiction. "Both of us are far too old." In the time of knights and damsels in distress, people would be sending off young sons to be fostered as a page, and by age 11, girls should be married, with two children by the age of 15 and a good chance that another child or two had been lost to illness or in childbirth. By the age of 15, a young man would be a superb horseman, dressed in armor and expert at wielding a sword. He would have had a good chance of being dead by the age of 17, but if he survived, he would be married to a 11 or 12 year old girl, and would maybe live to the ripe old age of 30.

Castles didn't have chimneys or glass windows, and "a lot of things in the middle ages weren't wonderful." With all the death and despair, a highlight of life was a feast, where food was abundant, drink flowed freely and everyone had a chance to party. Any reason would do, such as the completion of harvest or spring planting. Lord Marcus said that wars of those days "had to be finished by harvest time," so the combatants could turn their energies to gathering the crops.

He also outlined the progress made by families over the ages. In 1066, when William the Conqueror came to England, the Wynniatts were swordsmen. By 1168, they were tenant farmer, and by the 1600s, they owned Flaxley Abbey and 300 acres of land. Many medieval castles are still in existence today, with towns grown up around them.

Lady Igraine, a lady-in-waiting to the baroness, explained her costume, consisting of an underdress or kirtle, or sometimes several layers of underdresses to cope with the cold, covered by an overdress with curved sides to emphasize the woman's trim figure. A chain-link belt, or girdle, around the waist, was hung with pouches to carry not only comb and mirror, but eating utensil and other needs. A decorative "favor" hanging from her belt showed her allegiance to the baroness.

The morning ended with students and at least one teacher taking up arms against the experienced swordsmen, and time to view the displays and ask questions of the very Creative Anachronists.

LADY IGRAINE displays the household items of medieval times to a fascinated audience of Heinsburg students.

The Crusader column

By Cory Rogers and Derek McKenzie
FGM Student Journalists

F. G. Miller has been a busy place with renovations, sports, Crusader of the week, and other extra-curricular activities.

To start off with, the students of the week are Kelly Tetz and Michelle Cousins. Congratulations to you both! We have approximately 1100 entries in the Above the Limit program. Some of the prizes for the year end Above the Limit draws have already been bought. They are CK1 perfume and bracelet, leather book bag, leather portfolio and a talking alien t-shirt. There will be more prizes purchased at a later date and we will keep you updated.

Our sports team have been very busy lately with games. The Senior Boys and Girls volleyball teams are playing against St. Paul and Vilna at Regional School on October 29th. The Junior Boys and Girls teams travel to Frog Lake on October 30th. The Senior High teams are looking forward to this weekend when they will attend a tournament in Myrnam. All teams are gearing up for County Cup to be held later in November.

The school is right on time with renovations. The first thing that you will be pleased to hear is that the new heating system is installed and working well. Students are also pleased because they don't have to wear jackets to class. With the two boilers we now have, there is also a new cooling system as well. On hot days, the school will be a lot cooler and will be getting a lot more fresh air. This system consists of five giant fans which cycle air throughout the whole school in large vents. It then exits back out and fresh air is brought in.

The library, concession, office, staff room, Home Economics room and the student common area are going to be finished by the end of November. This pleases all students and staff who have been waiting for this part of the renovations since the beginning of the renovations. After they are done this part, the workers will move to the north end of the school and start the upgrade there. Ms Smerkea quoted "WOW!" on her almost finished library.

The staff got together Monday morning for their weekly staff meeting. The main discussion surrounded the problem with hats in the classroom. This has been a problem since the beginning of September. Students have a tendency to wear hats when they are brought into class so the teachers have banned hats from coming into classrooms. If a hat is brought into the classroom, the teacher has the right to take it away and give it back when the teacher feels it is necessary to do so.

One last note is that our school is still trying to sell electric typewriters. The price for these IBM/Olympia typewriters are $25.00.

And from last week...

Several career speakers came to F. G. Miller on Friday, October 17 Forms were given out to the students so that they could get permission to miss classes in order to attend the presentations. The speakers were Stephanie Cardinal from Lethbridge University, Charlene Mudryk from Lakeland College and Juliet Owusu from DeVry Technical School in Calgary. We hope the students got some good information from these speakers.

Pam Jabush sang at Cowboys in Edmonton on October 15 in a competition to find talent to perform at the Canadian Finals Rodeo in Edmonton in November.

Winning artist

Corrine Lowe and Jennifer Flanders entered an art contest. The entries had to be in by September 26. By entering the contest, the girls were eligible for an art workshop and their work was displayed at the St. Paul Recreation Centre. Corrine received first place on her drawing. Nice going, Corrine.

Awards Day will be held on November 28 at 7:00 p.m. in the gym. This is a day when awards are given to students for their great work and special achievements that they have accomplished. Not everyone will receive an award, but every Crusader deserves recognition for their great school spirit and participation in our school.

HIGH ENERGY GOES INTO OUR LOW-COST SOLUTIONS.

Seventy years in the business has given us a tremendous amount of knowledge. At Alberta Power, we work hard to keep your power rates among the lowest in Canada – even around the world.

We pride ourselves on our low rates and excellent service. Over the years, we've streamlined operations and increased productivity.

Daily, we generate cost-saving ideas for you. We've expanded our payment options and introduced PowerPlus™ – the automatic meter reading system that helps keep rates low by eliminating the manual meter reading step.

And we still have energy to spare.

Curling Club pre-registering Oct. 29

Elk Point Curling Club is getting ready for another season with their Pre-registration Night on Wednesday, October 29 at 7:30 p.m.

Drop by the rink and enter your team or yourself in the league curling, which usually takes place on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The executive requires pre-registration to determine when to install the ice for the current year. If an insufficient amount of teams are entered, curling will be postponed until January.

If you have been away from the rink for more than a year or two, make it a point to come down and view the renovations over the past few years.

If you are unable to attend the pre-registration, you can enter by calling Curtis at 724-3522 (home) or 724-3763 (work); Richard at 724-2946 (home) or 724-3883 (work); or Leonard at 724-4364 (home) or 724-6500 (work).

Minor Hockey highlights of the week

By Doug Bassett
Elk Point Minor Hockey

One of last week's games missed the paper, so here it is. This one's for you, "Big Ray." Last Sunday, October 20, the PeeWee Blades took to the ice playing Lloydminster. This game turned out to be a very exciting one with the Blades scoring shorthanded three times and coming from behind in the third period, down by two goals and with four minutes left, to win 7 - 5. Some outstanding saves late in the game by Chance Dumont held the boys in the game. A strong game by second year players, defenceman Melvin Easthope, scoring two, Kansas Davies with two, and the "big guy," Brian Poitras, potted a single. First year peeWee, a small guy who has good speed, Colton Hoffman, added two more. After the game, coach Jim (The Hawk) Hawkins had some words of praise for the team. "They never quit, even when they were down by two. It was a good effort from everyone on the team." This past Saturday night, with the help of Colton Hoffman, who had a hat trick, the Blades had an easy win, defeating St. Paul 9 to 3 in an exhibition contest.

Friday night the Bantam Lightning struck the ice in their first league game, coming out on top against the Lloydminster Blazers. The Border City Bunch were on the scoreboard first at 12:51, but the game was soon tied when Dustin (Bones) Yaremkevich tied it up with a nice backhand. The Lightning took the lead in the second when Dewberry product Luke Hanna scored on a wraparound, but the Blazers soon tied it up once more, making it 2-2 after 40 minutes. Talented team captain Scott Swain would be the hero on this Friday night, scoring on the power play with 5:45 remaining in the game to give the Lightning the two points. Goaltender Tyson (Red) Balash came up with some big saves late in the game to hold off the Blazers who outshot the Lightning 41 to 27.

Sunday night in exhibition play the Lightning took to the ice again, this time in a much rougher contest against the Vermilion Tigers, winning this

Dennell Anderson receives Triple Gold

By Roxanne Hoffman
Elk Point Skating Club

The Elk Point Skating Club is beginning another season. This spring Dennell Anderson completed her Triple Gold. She is the fourth skater from the Elk Point Skating Club to receive her Triple Gold. Dennell began her skating career taking private lessons with coach Sandra Lindenback. She spent many hours in the Elk Point arena training as well as using ice in St. Paul, Bonnyville, and in the last couple of years, Leduc. Although Dennell took her lessons in Leduc she still skated in Elk

Point and represented them in competitions. Also this summer Daylan Hoffman has decided to compete in "A"s.

This year the club hired Andrew Haggerty to be our professional coach. Andrew will be coaching private lessons, Canskate and Canfigure. Andrew enjoys starting young skaters as well as working with the more advanced members., whether they choose to pursue the test or competitive stream. We encourage parents to choose skating as an option for your child's winter recreation. It is not only great exercise but it is a lot of fun. For the young boys and girls wishing to start playing hockey, our Canskate program offers them the skating fundamentals, which are essential to develop into a good skater.

Canskate and Canfigure will be starting November 5, 1997 at 3:00 p.m.

SPRAYED-ON BED LINERS RISING IN POPULARITY

New truck dealers across the country have noted the increasing popularity of truck bed liners and with new truck owners sprayed-on bed liners are the liner of choice. ArmorThane Coating's Tough Stuff™ is proving to be the most popular.

Tough Stuff™ is a sprayed-on polyurethane product that is applied directly to the truck box. It bonds directly to the metal, providing a seal against moisture and most chemicals. It flexes with the movement of your truck and will never crack even under the most extreme weather conditions. In addition, its slip-resistant surface ensures that loads will not shift and provides good traction even when covered with snow.

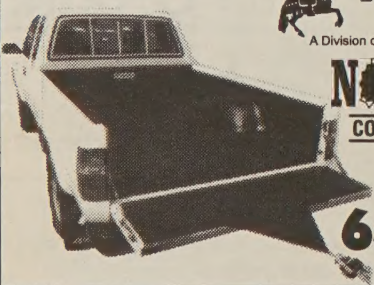

Available in custom colors.

What's news at the library?

A mixed bag of treats... guaranteed not to cause cavities!

By Michele Ducek
Librarian

For those of you who may have wondered if I'm now taking Fridays off (2 so far this month), you can relax. I don't anticipate any more Friday absences until Christmas. And speaking of Christmas, this is your first warning that the library will be closed the week of Christmas, from December 23 to 27. This allows me time to go home to my parents' house, eat way too much fattening food and sleep on a really uncomfortable sofa bed (last year I slept on the floor). Remember, now that you have nearly finished up the turkey leftovers from Thanksgiving, you have less than two months before you have to deal with turkey leftovers from Christmas.

There's a mixed bag of new arrivals at the library this week. I'm sure there is something to tickle your fancy. First, in non-fiction:

Dave Barry is From Mars and Venus is the Pulitzer Prize-winning latest collection of essays on topics ranging from Dave's coverage of the Atlanta Olympics to his unfortunate appearance on Wheel of Fortune.

Petrified Campus: The Crisis in Canada's Universities by David Bercuson, Robert Bothwell and J. L. Granatstein examines Canada's university system and finds that our universities are in deep trouble.

In Words I Wish I Wrote, Robert Fulghum reveals the works of writers who have inspired him and shaped his personal philosophy.

And in fiction:
A teacher tutors a young black man on death row in the American South of the 1940s in A Lesson Before Dying by Ernest J. Gaines, the latest book in the Oprah Winfrey book club.

Annette Byrne invites the estranged members of her family to spend the holidays at her home for the first time in years in Homecoming by Belva Plain.

New in picture books:
The Critters of the Night gather for a midnight snack of truly gross proportions in Midnight Snack by Eric Farber and J. R. Sansevere, in Step Into Reading Book.
